Attachments: The following must be enclosed for the application to be considered:

1. Project Description - a scholarly account of the project, including objectives, research questions/hypotheses, and the selection of theoretical approaches and methods. The complete project description should be a maximum of 10 pages excluding the bibliography (12-point font, 1.5 line spacing). Feel free to use The Research Council of Norway's template for project descriptions.
2. Progress Plan per semester - a plan for the work on the dissertation and completion of mandatory courses and mid-term evaluation. For applicants who are not employed at NIH, the progress plan must include a plan for the six-month residency requirement, detailing when and how the residency will be completed.
3. Description of any legal or ethical issues raised by the project and how these can be addressed. The application must state whether the project is dependent on permission granted by committees on research ethics and other authorities or private individuals (research subjects, patients, parents, etc.)
4. Documentation of educational background required for admission. This includes a CV, diplomas, diploma supplement, transcripts of grades and copies of any research papers that has either been published or submitted for publication. Both bachelor's and master's degrees must be documented. International applicants must include a copy of their passport.
5. A proposal for the main academic supervisor and a statement regarding the applicant's proposed affiliation with an active research group. A confirmation from the proposed supervisor that he/she is willing to supervise the candidate's doctoral project must be attached. If the proposed supervisor is external to the institution, a CV must be included. It must also be stated whether the external supervisor will be compensated and, if so, how.
6. Plan for funding - including documentation of need for project costs. Applicants with external funding must document full financing of their doctoral studies, including salary and project costs for the whole period.
7. Any plans for a stay at another institution, including stay abroad.
8. Plans for research dissemination, including whether the candidate plans to submit the thesis as a monograph or as a compilation of articles (with a "kappe"), as well as the candidate's plans to present the thesis at national and international research conferences.
9. Information about any restrictions on intellectual property rights intended to protect the rights of others that could prevent the doctoral thesis from being made available to the public or from being defended in a public forum.

Documentation concerning topics 1-5 should be separate attachments. Topics 6-9 may be covered in a singular document.
